BETTY KENNEDY COLE

1909 — 1967

For books are more than books, they are the life
The very heart and core of ages past,
The reason why men lived and worked and died,
The essence and quintessence of their lives.

— Amy Lowell

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Determination, hard work and the enthusiasm of the entire school combined to produce the best football season since the program began five years ago. This program began with a football camp in late August. What started out as a group of unorganized individuals blossomed after three weeks of rigorous preparation into a unit marked by enthusiasm and mutual respect.

The Dutchmen were ready to play football on the second day of school when they traveled to meet the Yale Bulldogs. Holland Hall accumulated 32 points while holding the Yale attack scoreless. Dave Rossetti scored two touchdowns while Dave Long, Jim Barlow and Steve Clark scored one apiece.

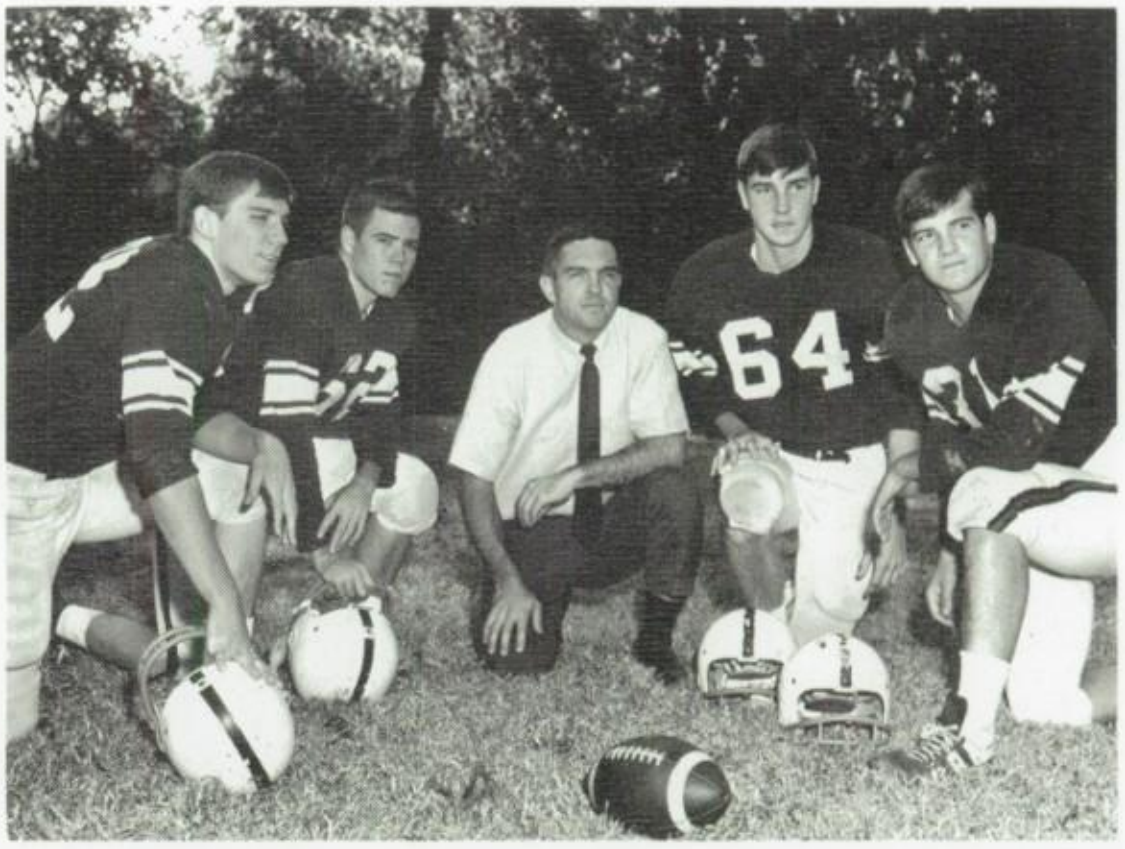
Next on the schedule was a tough and speedy Kiefer squad. It wasn't until late in the first half that Holland Hall scored. Fullback Jim Barlow captured the six points with a two-yard plunge. The fired-up Kiefer squad counterattacked with a drive to the two-yard line, but a fierce Holland Hall defense repulsed them in four consecutive plays. The game ended in a 6-0 victory for Holland Hall.

Despite 90-plus degree heat and poor pregame conditions the Dutchmen overpowered Fort Worth Country Day. After a poor first quarter the Dutchmen broke loose with four touchdowns. The final score was 42-6.

In the fourth game, a fine first quarter effort by Holland Hall subdued the previously unbeaten Morris Eagles. The Dutchmen scored on runs by Dave Rossetti, Jim Barlow, and Dave Long—totaling 38 points—while the detense registered its third shoutout.

After four wins, the Dutchmen experienced a letdown on Friday 13 when they played the Cascia Hall Commandoes. Nothing went right as the Dutchmen were defeated, 26-0, by an inspired Cascia team.

The Dutchmen then travelled to Oklahoma City to play the Casady Cyclones. The first half was a hard-fought battle as the Dutchmen came out on top 8-6. But in the second half Casady ran off with a 34-14 victory.



Seniors Dave Long, Bob Hewgley, Phil Edwards, Jim Barlow with Coach Brown.

After two losses the Dutchmen were lethargic in the first half against Kansas, but they stormed back in the second half to clinch a 34-14 victory. A spectacular 30-yard pass from Jeff Moore to Bill Amburn highlighted the game. This was the first time in four years that Holland Hall had beaten Kansas.

In the last game of the season, the Dutchmen produced a decisive 34-6 victory over the Greenhill Hornets. This game was highlighted by Dave Long's remarkable effort, producing 24 of Holland Hall's 34 points. In defeating the once-beaten Hornets the Dutchmen showed the poise and team unity that carried them to the best season in Holland Hall's history.

With all but four of this season's lettermen returning next year, the Dutchmen should improve greatly on the records set by this year's team.

CROSS COUNTRY

The members of the Holland Hall Cross Country team showed great improvement this year. Mr. Pickle, the cross country coach, encouraged competition by including timed races in the cross country workout. Throughout the season, Brad Bradley and Dave Robison fought fiercely for the number one position on the team.

The Holland Hall team was greatly improved with the addition of three new runners, Brad Bradley, Jon Holden, and Bill Wright. Brad Bradley beat Dave Robison's best score of this year by a scant 6.7 seconds. However, Brad still has to beat the team record, 10:21, which Dave Robison set last year. Jon Holden consistently placed well in all the meets and provided the team with good competition and spirit. Bill Wright showed a marked improvement as he worked his way up to the number three position on the team.

The team was hampered by only one major injury this year. One of the team's promising runners, Bill Favorite, broke his collarbone and was out for the rest of the season. Mike Walter, our number six runner, deserves commendation. Mike faithfully ran in the cross country meets despite a knee injury.

The team was more well-balanced this year. Last year, no one was fast enough to consistently finish a race with Dave Robison. This year, the team's five and six top runners were constantly up front with him.

Holland Hall participated in six dual meets, winning one against Booker T. Washington. The team lost its only triangular meet, and came in 4th place in a five-team meet beating Booker T. Washington. The team also came in fourth place in the final meet of the season, the Southwest Preparatory Conference Cross Country Meet at Dallas, beating St. Stephen's. The team has asked for a summer work-out program to build their endurance. They plan to start out next year's season in top shape.

BASKETBALL

The 1968 basketball team combined pride and team effort to produce a winning season. The Dutchmen consistently out-hustled and out-rebounded their opponents to compile a 13-9 record.

The team won the season's first game by defeating Cleveland 52-42. They then dropped two to Oklahoma City St. Mary's, but soon got back into the winning column by taking two of three games in the Catoosa Tournament. The Dutchmen lost two close games to Oklahoma Military Academy.

Team confidence played an important part in the Dutchmen's two victories over Cascia Hall. After trailing 19-21 at the half, they came back to win the first game 47-46. In the second meeting, Holland Hall won easily 49-40.

This season the Southwest Preparatory Conference Tournament was held in Oklahoma City and Houston. Although the Dutchmen did not play as well as they had earlier in the season, they were able to win four of seven games, clinching a tie for second place. Mike Childers was named to the all-conference team, the first Holland Hall player to receive all-conference recognition for basketball.

The two leading scorers for the Dutchmen were Mike Childers and Fred Daugherty, each with 12-point season averages. Consistent effort from Steve Clark, Bob and Fred Hewgley, Steve and Bill Amburn, Dan Meyer, and Bill Bass sparked a balanced attack.

Although the Dutchmen will lose Captain Bob Hewgley, next year's seasoned team should be even more successful.

Even though they had lost four starters from last year, the soccer team began this year with a lot of potential.

Players started to realize their potential early in the season when they traveled to Shawnee and beat St. Gregory's Junior College, 2-1. This was the first time the Holland Hall team had ever beaten St. Gregory's.

The highlight of the season came a week later when the team defeated the Casady Cyclones, 3-1. The fired-up Dutchmen out-played their opponents the entire game; the only Casady score was on the last kick of the game. This game was the first in the northern half of the Southwest Preparatory Conference.

The Dutchmen traveled to Oklahoma City the following weekend to meet St. Mark's and Forth Worth. Exhilarated by the win over Casady, the Dutchmen were hoping for an easy victory over St. Mark's, who were the defending conference champions. With an effort comparable to that of the week before, the Dutchmen fought St. Mark's to a 2-2 tie by the end of the second half. The Dutchmen prevailed easily in the overtime period as Richie Lawrence put in his second goal to break the tie, and Steve Thomas scored minutes later to clinch the victory.

The next day the exhausted Dutchmen faced Fort Worth. Despite the low score, 1-0, the Dutchmen were never really seriously pressed by the Falcons.

With a 3-0 record, the team was anxious to meet the competition in the Southern league. The Dutchmen defeated Kinkaid, 2-0 in the first game of the tournament. Later that afternoon they outlasted Greenhill, 1-0.

The Dutchmen were bitterly disappointed to lose the last two games. Both games were played on a muddy field in a chilly downpour. The Dutchmen lost to St. Steven's, 2-1. An hour and a half later, the Dutchmen lost to St. John's, 3-1. In spite of these losses, Holland Hall finished in second place in the tournament.

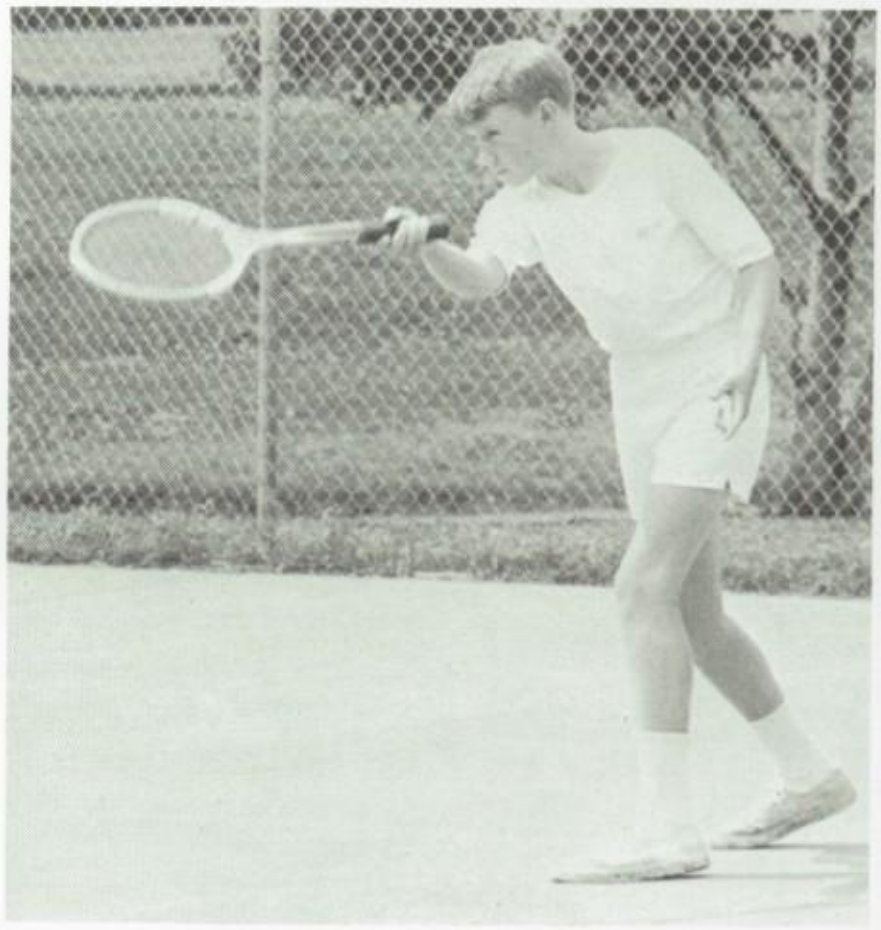
VARSITY TENNIS

Holland Hall's '68 tennis team distinguished itself from all other athletic teams which have competed in the Southwest Preparatory Conference. The '68 conference championship belongs to a team consisting of three freshmen, one sophomore, one junior, and one senior.

Coach Bill Austin, in his first coaching endeavor, met twenty candidates for the first day of practice. In one week of concentrated hitting, drilling, and running, Coach Austin had reduced the varsity to eight people—Paul Lockwood, #1; Jon Holden, #2; Robert Bradley, #3; Dale Frates, #4; John Yandell, #5; Dave Mole, #6; Blake Morley, #7; Bill Wright, #8. This team compiled a season record of twelve wins and three losses, including wins over such teams as Casady, Bartlesville, and Arkansas City, Kansas.

The Tennis Team flew to Houston on Thursday, April 25, and began matches the next day. Jon Holden and Paul Lockwood reached the semi-finals in singles, and together they won the doubles. Holland Hall compiled the greatest number of cumulative points, and came home with the first place trophy.



Dale Frates concentrates on his follow-through.

The Holland Hall baseball team, under the coaching of Doyle Tunnell and Raymond Bizjack, finished the '67-'68 season with an impressive 10-3 record. The improvement over last year's season was readily seen in the first few weeks of the season. The team combined pride and experience to carry them through the year.

After losing to Berryhill in the home opener, the team won the next seven games with the help of pitchers Dan Meyer and Fred Daugherty. The team also relied on the defensive abilities of infielders Bill Amburn, Steve Amburn, Steve Clark, and outfielders Bill Favorite and Steve Thomas. The team defeated Kellyville, runner-up in state class B; Catoosa, which was undefeated before meeting the Dutchmen; and McGuinness, rated number 3 in state class AA. The second loss of the season came at the hands of arch-rival Casady, playing in the northern zone of the Southwest Prepatory Conference. The score was 1-0. This defeat was sweetened by a sound beating of Cascia Hall, 9-1, in which Dan Meyer pitched his fifth consecutive win. One week later these same teams competed once more and again Holland Hall prevailed, 5-4. Kelley handed the Dutchmen what turned out to be its final defeat of the year.

With only one defeat in the Northern Zone of the S.P.C. the baseball team was anxious to meet the competition of the Southern Zone in Houston. None of the teams were able to play, however, as the three-day tournament was rained out. The team only loses two seniors this year, Adam Adwon and Dave Long, and the returning members of this year's team are looking forward to another chance for a conference title next year.

MIDDLE SCHOOL FOOTBALL

Dutchman nails receiver.

H. H. rushes for a good gain against Casady.

Holland Hall's Middle School Football Team compiled a disappointing record of five losses and no victories this year. Playing against tough competition, the Middle School team improved throughout the season, but never won. Cascia Hall defeated the Middle Schoolers twice, 8-6 and 20-6, but the first loss was an extremely hard-fought battle. Casady prevailed, 14-0, as did Sperry, 16-0 but both of these games were won on the last plays, giving an unfair indication of the closeness of both games. The Middle School Dutchmen were aggressive defensively, but they had trouble scoring due to the lack of speed.

Coaches Doyle Tunnell and John Pickle guided the Middle School Dutchmen this year. Coach Tunnell was in charge of the backs while Coach Pickle took care of the linemen. Those out for Middle School Football learned the fundamentals of blocking and tackling during the first practices.

MIDDLE SCHOOL BASKETBALL

The Middle School Basketball Team compiled a 17-12 record this year. The seventh grade record was 9-3 and the eighth grade was 8-9.

In the Casady Invitational Tournament, the Middle School Dutchmen played three games. One of the highlights of the season was the team's victory over Edmond Junior High, 31-24. Western Oaks and Millwood defeated the Dutchmen with more experienced teams.

Individually, the eighth grade was lead by high-scoring Gray Wells, who boasted a 16.0 point season average. Mike Bankoff led the seventh graders with a 14.0 point average. The best defensive player of both squads this year was John Frates, an aggressive seventh grader.

Coach Frank Ward cited the team's improvement in defense and in rebounding, which offset a lack of opposing scoring, as the key to the successful season.

The highlights of the season were the two big wins over Cascia Hall. The seventh grade, 23-18, and the eighth grade, 36-17.

Coach Austin

The Middle School Soccer team, hampered by bad weather and a lack of other junior high teams in the area to play, was limited to one game this season. Under the fine coaching of Mr. Austin, the team greatly improved it's speed and ball control in preparation for its first game against Casady. After weeks of practice the day of the game arrived and it rained. The rain continued through the game and turned the field into a sea of mud. Although both teams were at a disadvantage because the ball would stop completely every time it hit mud, Casady overpowered the J.V.'s 2-0. Outstanding performances were contributed by goalie Jeff Holmes, fullbacks Garret Davies and John Whitaker, and inside Tim Stowell. Determined not to lose to Casady the second time, the J.V.'s worked hard to get into better condition. They worked on developing more distance in their kicks. Mr. Austin made necessary changes in the line-up to add more strength to the team's offensive attack. After a month of intensive practice, the weather in Oklahoma City forced the game to be postponed for two weeks in a row and finally cancelled. Despite the frustrating season, the Middle School soccer team showed a lot of spirit and learned much about playing soccer as a team.

MIDDLE SCHOOL TENNIS

Holland Hall's Middle School Dutchmen have won the State Junior High School Tennis Championship for two years in a row. Last year the Middle School Dutchmen took first place in the State Championship with thirteen points. This year the Dutchmen extended their winning point total to fifteen.

For the second straight year Paul Lockwood nabbed the singles title. John Frates and John Starr won the doubles crown which Fred Hewgley and Jon Holden won last year. No other school in the state has had back-to-back championships, or has won both the singles and doubles championships two years running.

Members of this year's championship team included freshmen Paul Lockwood, Dale Frates, John Yandell, and Bill Wright; eighth graders John Starr, Biggs Porter, Scott Yandell, and Grey Wells; and seventh graders Mike Bankoff and John Frates. Coach Frank Ward has guided these outstanding netters for five years.

This year the Middle School tennis team played twelve matches, including such able opponents as Muskogee, the state runenrs-up, Sapulpa, Henryetta, Casady, and Midwest City. The '67-'68 tennis dual record was 11-1.

GIRLS' SPORTS

The reorganized girls' sports department has done much to improve Holland Hall's image this year. The field hockey team placed in the Southwest Preparatory Conference for the first time, and the basketball team won the consolation bracket. In the spring, the volleyball team took both A and B to Houston. The Girls' Athletic Council discontinued the sale of candy and introduced more lucrative projects in its place.

HOCKEY

The Girls' Hockey Team had a progressive season. They began with plenty of enthusiasm but little skill and ended with a really spirited first-rate team. For the first time the hockey team was victorious at Conference when it beat Kinkaid. This victory proved to be the girls' downfall. They really never stopped celebrating.

Three team members, Tacie Erwin, Debbie Clay, and Joyce Bumgardner, were selected All-Conference players. The entire team showed great sportsmanship which made the season enjoyable for everyone. Mrs. Lagaza, coach, and co-captains Tacie Erwin and Chris Rickert were proud of a fine year.

BASKETBALL

This year the girls' basketball team ended with a victorious season of 8-5. This was the most successful season the girls' basketball team has had in several years. Opponents included teams from Casady, Monte Cassino, Avant, and Northeastern State College. The girls practiced rigorously for the Southwest Preparatory Conference in which they had a record of 2-1 and took the consolation bracket.

SPEEDBALL

Diann runs in as Pat and Missy charge for the ball.

Despite lack of facilities and experience, the speedball team made tremendous improvement. Under the able coaching of Mrs. Kaboth, and with occasional help from Mr. Rieder, the girls improved from a 17-0 thrashing at the beginning of the season by Casady to a narrow one-goal loss to Casady at Houston. Losing only two seniors, the team should not lack experience next year.

SOFTBALL

This year's softball team showed an outstanding improvement in skill and spirit. The four returning starters were teamed with five other capable players. The girls practiced four days a week, having two days with Mrs. La Gaza and two days with Mr. Rieder. Most of the time was devoted to basic fielding skills. The first of the season looked dismal as the softball team lost both its pre-conference games, against Claremore and Muskogee, but the season brightened as the team placed third in Houston. HH finished with a 2-2 record by defeating Kinkaid and All Saints and losing to Casady, the first-place team, and Hockaday, the second-place team.

VOLLEYBALL

Tacie rushes to Susie's aid.

The volleyball team began a victorious season April 16 by defeating Muskogee in a three-game match. Coached by Mrs. Kaboth, practice began in late February and was held four times a week. Additional help was given by members of the YMCA professional volleyball team. On April 18, led by newly-elected captain Sally Patton, the team defeated Claremore in three games. The Holland Hall girls played Casady here, winning one game of the match, and barely losing the other two. In Houston for the Southwest Preparatory Conference, the team was at a disadvantage, having lost two of the six starters. Holland Hall lost the first two games and was eliminated from competition.

TENNIS

This was the first year the girls' tennis team has participated in the Southwest Preparatory Conference. The team, led by co-captains Sherry Manley and Pam Lockwood, left a very favorable impression on the other schools in the conference at Houston. The other members of the team in order of rankings are Sherry Sundgren, Susan Starr, Jan Lyons, Laurie McFarlin, and Chris Riekert.

Due to recurrences of unfavorable weather the team had only one official match before the conference which was lost to Muskogee. This, however, did not keep the girls from making a good showing at Houston. Sherry Manley won the consolation round in B singles division. Special honors went to Laurie McFarlin and Sherry Sundgren who took first place in B doubles. This was the first conference win in any division by a Holland Hall girls' team.

With the loss of only two seniors the remainder of the team plans to begin next season with renewed strength. The team feels that with a more rigid practice schedule they will be able to win conference championship next spring.

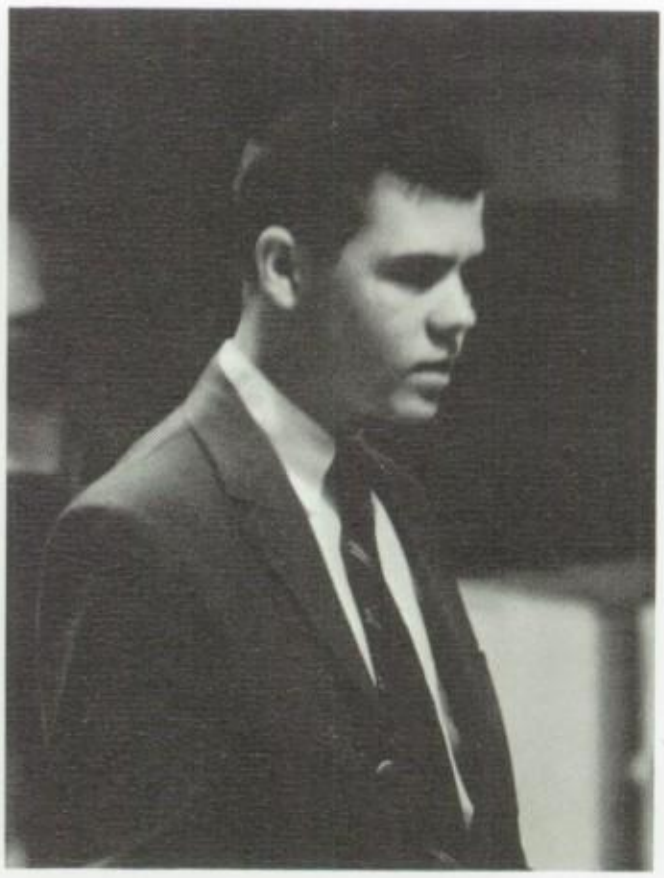
STUDENT COUNCIL

Bob presents a new idea to the council.



Bob Hewgley contemplates student's suggestions.

This year's Student Council has been successful in several important ways. A valuable precedent has been set in effective Council communication with the Administration. One tangible result of candid discussions with both Mr. Moore and Mr. Dundas has been the introduction of a typing class at student request.

The Council has also succeeded in involving the students in school events. The All Sports Dance had the best attendance in several years. Student response to the Christmas canned goods drive was excellent. Other successes included enthusiastic participation in Hallmark '68 and in Davis Day.

The student support and interest shown in this year's Student Council promises an even brighter future.

The Key Club, a student service organization, had a unique problem this year. All the members were anxious to help the school, but there was just not that much to do.

As a result of some constructive thinking, the Key Club sponsored a number of worthy projects. At Christmas the Key Club directed a canned goods drive. 600 cans were presented to the Salvation Army at the culmination of the drive. At Hallmark '68, the Key Club members became ushers to seat the 600 people who attended.

Although a school service organization, the Key Club has discussed community projects for the future.

Frank Smith and Dale Frates load books for the Book and Art Fair.

At the beginning of the year the lettermen elected Fred Daughtery as President and Phil Edwards as Secretary-Treasurer. The lettermen decided to rewrite the constitution and to reorganize.

The Lettermen's Club continued its main goal of serving the school and the Athletic Department. The lettermen served at the Book and Art Fair, carrying books and setting up tables. They also served as Ushers at Hallmark '68 and the Spring Concert.

Along with reorganizing the club, the lettermen ordered letter jackets to replace the traditional letter sweaters.

The size of the Lettermen's Club grew continually as Holland Hall excelled in sports.

The Math Club was divided into two phases this year. Phase I consisted of student-taught lectures. Evan Johnson, choosing topology as his subject, gave the first lecture. James Maddox discussed the interesting properties of soma cubes. Dave Rossetti lectured on matrices and their uses. Gerry Bryan talked on infinity and meaningless expressions in mathematics.

Phase II was a thorough preparation for the annual high school contests of the Mathematical Association of America. This contest, based entirely upon standard h igh school curricula, tested the students on their ability to use information compiled in their years of mathematics.

HALLWAY

Fred does his best work in an unstructured atmosphere.

At the beginning of the year, the Hallway editors decided on two main goals: a better paper and increased efficiency. Although this efficiency was limited to publishing an issue on the first day of school, overall quality improved throughout the year.

Reporters were able to write readable stories without the benefit of a journalism class. Local enthusiasm for advertising in the Hallway also increased; this year saw the school's first profit-making issue. New features included musical and sports columns and editorials dealing with national and local issues.

This year the paper took shape in a series of late night sessions. As the articles were re-written and galley proofs checked, the make-up was gradually put together. The paper was usually put to bed around 2:00 A.M. when Jan, Fred and Mr. Miller would drive to Sand Springs to slip the dummied paper under the printer's garage door.

This year's Windmill staff was divided into three groups: an art staff, a selection staff, and a proofreading staff. Members of the art staff were responsible for creating and selecting the illustrations.

The purpose of the selection staff was to decide what short stories, poems, and essays should be included in the Windmill.

The emphasis this year was on art. The staff increased the amount of art in the Windmill and promoted the use of photographs.

PEP CLUB

This year the Pep Club's spirit increased with each game whether won or lost. The buses to out-of-town games were always overflowing. The spirit to cheer on the team wasn't dampened even after a 6 hour trip to Ft. Worth. The enthusiasm always reached its highest for the victories over Cascia Hall when the halls were blocked out with posters.

Added to the selling of spirit ribbons, this year the Pep Club sold "Sock it to 'em" buttons for the soccer team. Voodoo dolls, decorated lockers, and skits during the pep rallies also boosted the spirit.

The Pep Club not only cheered at the games but also sold concessions. A high point of the year was the basketball game between the girls and the male faculty to raise money for the cheerleaders' clinic and the A.F.S. fund.

"But you're not even in the pep club, Mr. Miller."

MIXED CHORUS

1968 has been a year of change for the Mixed Chorus. Under the guidance of David Rollo, the new director, different types of secular and sacred music have been introduced.

Rejoice Folk Mass, a youthful version of the liturgy, was sung in the Thanksgiving communion service and at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in their regular Sunday service. Dave Long and Dan Mayo provided the driving beat with electric guitars for the exciting religious experience. A program of sacred, patriotic, and secular music was performed at the annual spring concert, April 21st. New lighting techniques and varied accompaniment added a professional air.

The group voted a new uniform to be worn for informal appearances. It consisted of navy blue A-line skirts, knee socks, loafers, and light blue blouses for the girls; gray slacks, light blue shirts, and dark ties for the boys. The school navy blue blazer with the crest was worn by both girls and boys.

Another addition to the group was the election of officers. Cathey Wells was President, David Robison was Vice-president, Gayle Emery, Librarian, and Sally Patton, Secretary.

Precision directing is Mr. Rollo's trademark.

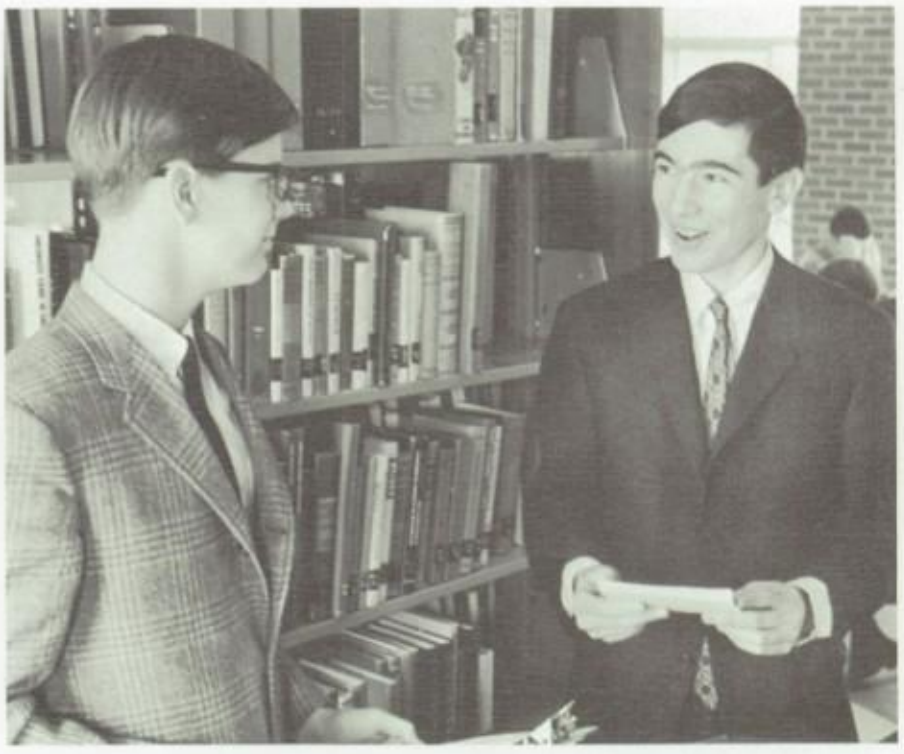
Evan and Kirk plan their affirmative brief.

This year the Debate Club had four members: Evan Johnson, Kirk Kerekes, Elizabeth Meyer, and Jack Runyon. The topic was Resolved: "That Congress Should Establish Uniform Regulations to Control Criminal Investigation Procedures." With Miss Yeakey, their coach and sponsor, they travelled to Oklahoma City to take part in the November Arts Festival at Casady School. There, the affirmative and negative each debated against Casady and Wichita Collegiate. Although these debates had been set up as no-decision matches whose main purpose was to promote debating experience, Holland Hall debaters left the Festival feeling that they had done a good job. Then, in January, the teams debated each other as a program for the members of MENSA.

Kirk and Elizabeth present their case.



Jack and Evan discuss the validity of their argument.

DRAMA

Holland Hall's Drama Club produced Emlyn Williams's stirring drama Night Must Fall this year. One act of this play was performed in the Casady Arts Festival, and the production at Holland Hall took place November 28, 1967.

Tryouts for the play were held during the second week of the school year. Director Mrs. Rosemary Chase selected Brian Berkey, Trimble Parlette, and Shelley Arlen as the leads. Other cast members included Pat Higginbotham, Missy Whitehill, Bruce Buford, Charles Gibbs, and Robert Bradley. Dave Robison served as stage manager. The play, one of the most successful in Holland Hall's history, was for the first time video-taped, enabling actors to critically evaluate the performance.

Four members of the Drama Club also dramatized one act of Paddy Chayéfsky's provoking play Gideon in a March chapel service. In this performance Charles Gibbs portrayed Gideon, Robert Bradley was the Lord, and Trimble Parlette and Pat Higginbotham served as student directors.

Katsuko.

Holland Hall's first American Field Service student was Chris Riekert who spent the year with Sally Patton and her parents. Chris, a senior, was from Bizana, East Pondoland, South Africa. She proved to be an active student, participating in hockey, speedball, tennis, Student Council, and Hallmark '68. Chris also consistently made the Headmaster's list.

Katsuko Izawa, also a senior, was the guest of Sarah Pendley and her family for the school year. Katsuko, who had a brother and a sister living in the United States, is from Miyukaido, Japan. She came to Holland Hall because she was interested in attending a college in this country. She was especially talented in mathematics and was a member of the Math Club.

Dear Deb!

I guess that since I never wrote anything in your 7th grade yearbook, then I have to write an awful lot in this one. REMEMBER:
Rich Helmrich and HAHA!
Mr. Novak's Roomatizm *
Diann + Skippers
Tryst of loves !!!LEE!!! !?
Yari - 2 of them: Reeves, Greenberg + Winters
Oh no My Roomatizm is bothering me again!
No more cajoling! SKILLIZE

I think last year was really fun, and I'm glad that we got to be even better friends than the year before. You are a really rotten person I MEAN! (That is another "remember.") We really we've had alot of fun times together. I can't think of any of them now, but I'm sure we had a couple. As you can tell, I can't stop cajoling... I guess that's one habit I'll never ~~lose~~ lose. You are a great person, and I Want You to stay the

* that really isn't a remember... it's a current saying.

SPACE FOR JOTTIN

Same-dumb, stupid ugli...
Imean, well you know I was only cajoling. I bet if Jodi hadn't been at HH, we (or at least you) would have gotten →
2nd TRUEST OF LOVES →
GEOFF! I don't think I'll ever forget this summer...
Toni → Shark → Brinno!
But of all my favorite people I'll forget you → IMEAN! No really - I'll never forget you → or Toni either.
We've had alot of fun, and I know we'll have alot more in the future.

Love
